

REP. NYE ON TRIAL AT CAPITAL

Attorneys Have Filed
Demurrer to the Indictment

WILL HEAR ARGUMENTS

This Afternoon at 2 O'clock—
Case May Possibly Go Over.

Columbus, May 18.—The trial of Representative George Nye, indicted on four counts for soliciting bribes, was called for trial in Judge Kinkaid's court at 9 o'clock today. Nye's attorneys filed a general demurrer to the indictment under which he is to be first tried. Judge Kinkaid set 2 o'clock as the hour at which he would hear arguments of the demurrer. Prosecutor Turner, Attorney General Hogan and Special Counsel McGee were on hand to present the State's case.

Representative Lowry and Senator Andrews, the two other indicted persons were in court when the trial opened. Nye's attorneys take technical exception to the indictments, because it says "might be influenced." They say that a bribe might or might not influence a man but to be an offense he must be influenced.

Columbus, O., May 18.—Representative Lowry appeared at the court house today and pleaded not guilty to the second indictment against him in the boulder probe. Senator Crawford and Representative Evans will be arraigned tomorrow.

Columbus, O., May 18.—Common Pleas Judge E. B. Kinkaid, who is to preside over the trials in the legislative bribery cases, has reserved until today his decision on the request of Attorney Belcher and Connor, representing Dr. George B. Nye, Pike county assemblyman, for a postponement of his trial until Monday, May 22, at the earliest.

This would leave but one day, and that a holiday, intervening between the commencement of the Nye case and the resumption of the legislative probe by the grand jury, which the prosecutor declares has been recessed merely for the sake of proceeding with the trials assigned.

Prosecuting Attorney E. C. Turner is standing pat on his demand that the trials of the alleged bribe-soliciting legislators proceed as scheduled and refused to concur in the suggestion of attorneys for Nye, that they get together and fix a date.

The conflicting claims were presented to the court yesterday afternoon.

"A speedy trial for these men, if they are innocent, is the best for them," declared the prosecutor. "The demands of justice require a speedy trial and justice may be hampered by delay."

"We are not seeking delay," rejoined Attorney Charles E. Belcher, "but we do not desire to rush into trial with our witnesses scattered."

As the action of the court on the Nye case date will affect the time of trial of the other defendants, the discussion wandered into those cases also. Attorneys Belcher and Connor contended that it would be necessary for them to secure depositions from out-of-the-state witnesses in some of the cases, naming Chicago and other places as probable sources of testimony. Mr. Belcher declared that it might not be necessary to secure any depositions in the Nye case.

His last remark was prompted by the objection of the prosecutor that all the state had to show in the Nye case was the alleged solicitation by State Printer E. A. Crawford of a bribe in connection with the Kimble gerrymander bill, and that all the details of the transaction took place in the city of Columbus.

The prosecuting attorney has summoned a list of witnesses who are to report this morning. This was brought to the attention of the court and it was urged that, inasmuch as, at the time of the returning of the indictments two weeks ago, the state had declared its intention of forcing a trial the week of May 15, the defense could not complain now that there was any particular rush.

"It is customary to proceed to trial as quickly as possible after arraignment," declared Turner, who added "there are now awaiting arraignment men whose trials will quickly follow that formality," meaning thereby a list of offenders charged with various felonies against whom indictments were returned the same time as the legislators.

throughout the summer and that if the Nye case were but delayed he was perfectly willing that the others might follow in regular order.

As to the order of the trials and the indictments which will first be tested, Prosecuting Attorney Turner declared that the result in the first case would determine his action as to the others. Present plans indicate that Nye, in the event of an acquittal or a disagreement on one indictment, would not be tried again until the cases of Senators L. R. Andrews, Isaac E. Huffman and Sergeant-at-Arms Rodney J. Diegel of the senate are disposed of.

Before passing on the request for a continuance, Judge Kinkaid indicated that he would want to know whether any preliminary motions of demurrers would be filed by the defense, as this might further delay proceedings.

Previous to the court's remarks on this subject, Attorney Belcher had declared that he and his co-counsel, John A. Connor, had not as yet had time to look into the validity of the indictments, thus indicating the possibility of preliminary pleas being interposed as to their sufficiency.

Sensor Huffman was a visitor to the court house yesterday afternoon. He held a short conference with his attorneys.

NOTICE OF INDICTMENTS
RECORDED IN HOUSE JOURNAL
Official notification by Prosecuting Attorney Turner to Speaker Vinson of the indictment of three members of the house was presented to the house by the speaker yesterday.

Though notice of the finding by the grand jury of true bills against Dr. Nye and Dr. Lowry was served on the speaker at the time the first indictments were returned, it was not until yesterday, after he received notice of the second indictment of Lowry and the indictment of Representative Owen J. Evans of Stark that he handed the notices down to be read and recorded in the house journal.

MAY SETTLE COAL STRIKE

Canton, May 18.—A new plan to settle the Tuscarawas-Sherrodsville coal strike which has dragged along since June 11, 1910, was offered today when the miners and operators met here. State President Sullivan of the miners says the chances for a settlement are bright. The merchants of the county brought about today's meeting claiming the strike has paralyzed business.

ROOSEVELT OPPOSES PROPOSED TREATY

New York, May 18.—A position of direct opposition to Taft's proposed arbitration treaty with England and France was taken by Colonel Roosevelt in an editorial in the current issue of the Outlook. He opposes any treaty which would limit arbitration in any question affecting honor, independence or integrity, saying that a country which took such a position would be in the same position as a man who went to law when his wife was "assaulted and her face slapped."

Roosevelt says "such an individual who went to law instead of punishing the offender forthwith would be regarded with derision."

PRESIDENT'S WIFE MUCH IMPROVED

New York, May 18.—Mrs. W. H. Taft, wife of the president, left today for Washington, much improved in health and spirit. Miss Helen Taft went with her.

Will Fight Suit of Typographical Union

New York, May 18.—At an informal meeting the members of the National Manufacturers' Association today decided to fight the suit of the International Typographical Union against President Kirby and the directors of the association. The union wants $100,000 for the statement issued by the directors on October 12, blaming the union for the dynamiting of the Los Angeles Times building.

FULTON BILL IS PASSED

Had 62 Votes in House to 31 Against

RUSHED TO THE SENATE

And Takes Its Place With Two
Other Similar Measures—
The New Districts.

TODAY'S SUMMARY.

Columbus, May 18.—The senate today passed the house bill which keeps all Ohio communities with a population of less than 6000 out of the class of cities.

The senate will probably pass a makeshift congressional redistricting bill today in order to throw the matter into the hands of a conference committee in an effort to get a bill reported which will satisfy all factions.

The Dore bill placing the appointment of law library employees in the hands of the clerk of the supreme court was killed in the senate today after the supreme court was severally arraigned for alleged lobbying.

After Cetone and Huffman twice voted with the Republicans, creating a tie which Lieut. Gov. Nichols broke with his vote cast each time with the Democratic side, the Gebhardt canal reform bill was referred to a committee of one to be referred back whenever there is a chance for it to pass. It takes much power from the state board of public works invests it in the chief engineer.

The house today refused to concur in the senate amendment to the general appropriations bill and it was referred to a conference committee.

Resolutions of regret and an adjournment for ten minutes were voted by the house today out of respect to Representative Smith, who died last night. A resolution to pay Mrs. Smith the salary due her husband for his unexpired term was adopted.

Governor Harmon today requested the members of the Central Board to come here Saturday, to organize.

Columbus, O., May 18.—Working over night, the Democratic leaders succeeded yesterday in rounding up members to change their votes to pass the Fulton bill, which was defeated Tuesday. The motion was made by Judge Winters of Erie who had voted no in order to be able to do so.

Had it not been for four Republican votes, the measure would not have gone through the house of representatives, for six Democrats continued their opposition. These were Geleerd of Lucas, Gibbs of Lorain, Williams of Lorain and Lamb of Clinton.

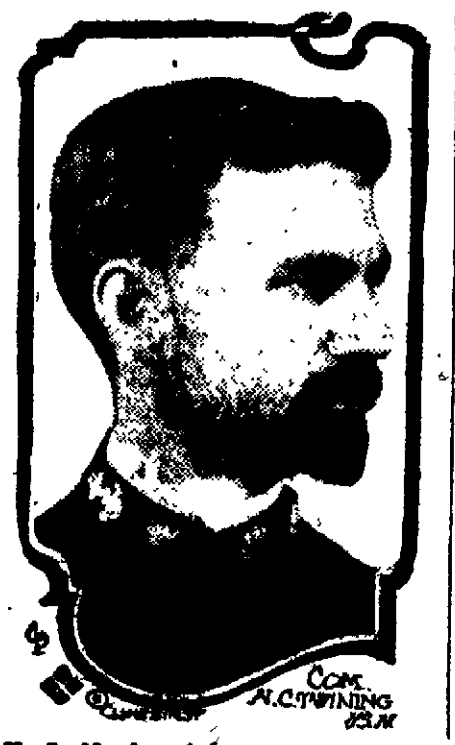

Speaker Pro Tem Russell asked all the Republicans to support the measure, saying that it was eminently fair and not at all partisan in scope. With the exception of the quartet named they declined.

On the first call of the roll the bill got 61 votes, as against 32 negatives. Leathers of Wood, a Democrat, then changed and made it 62.

The Democrats who opposed it were Boggs of Belmont, Connolly of Brown, Donson of Montgomery, Gardner of Clermont, Mulbach of Highland and White of Jefferson.

The bill was immediately rushed over to the senate so as to take its place side by side with the Dean and Huffman bills pending there.

Twentieth and Twenty-first districts—Cleveland.

Forced to Testify Against Grafters Who Preached Morality

Canton, May 18.—John F. Weiss, secretary and treasurer of the Stark-Tuscarawas Breweries Company, charged with soliciting a bribe of $1500 for his vote on the Dean bill, yesterday had to testify before the Franklin county grand jury. He said his testimony against Evans was not of his own desire, but that it developed from a meeting in Cleveland.

"The probers had asked me for some time, said Weiss. 'Things came to a climax in Cleveland last week. Two detectives in the employ of the probers approached me and confronted me with facts which I could not deny I knew.'

"While the Dean law was pending before the house the Allied Trades and Liquor Association, of which I am a member, came to me and asked me what was the matter with Evans, because his attitude on the bill seemed doubtful."

"As a member of the organization it was my duty to report what I knew. The detectives knew this and I could not deny it. I am not vindictive in this matter."

"We had confidently expected the support of Evans, and, indignant as I was at his adverse vote, I would never have volunteered to testify against him. I would be glad if the case against Evans never went any further."

"We had enough votes to pass the Dean bill, but legislators were influenced to vote against it, not by the sentiment of the people, but by something else."

Sad Death of Representative
Smith of Marion

Columbus, O., May 18.—Sorrow pervaded the halls of the general assembly last night filled as they were with busy lawmakers and officials when the announcement came of the death of Representative William T. Smith, chairman of the taxation committee.

suming zeal for the establishment in law of the principle of the one per cent tax. Long an invalid, it was only his tremendous will power that sustained him through the long and weary contest that ended only last week in a victory.

With the strain relaxed there came a collapse, and with collapse came death. Governor Judson Harmon, whose right hand man he was in the fight for reform in taxation, expressed a great personal loss in his taking off and paid his sterling character, as a business man and statesman, a high tribute.

The house, in which he was regarded rightfully as one of the strongest and most forceful leaders, will take suitable action today.

Columbus, May 18.—The public utilities bill will not be considered by the legislature until May 31 the last day. The conference committee today agreed to come here next Thursday and go over the bill after which it will be printed and placed on the desk of the legislators. There are strong indications that the bill will be worth something to the public when the committee gets through with it.

JAPAN

Has Opportunity, Should She Care
to Accept It, of Proving Sincerity of Protestation of Desire for Peace.

Washington, May 18.—Japan now has an opportunity of proving the sincerity of her protestation of desiring continued peace, according to prominent diplomats here. The publication in all capitals of the civilization of the terms of the Anglo-French-American arbitration treaty indicates the position of the United States and shows that negotiations may be opened by any nation desiring to enter into such a treaty. Official Washington is now listening for noises from Japan indicating how they stand in the matter.

HOME FROM CONVENTION IN FLORIDA

Conductor J. H. Menner and wife returned from Jacksonville, Florida, Wednesday. They have been attending the convention of the Order of Railway Conductors, and report having had a splendid time. Mr. Menner says that too much praise cannot be extended to the Southern people for the hospitality and courtesy extended the conductors and their wives. During the convention there were many excursions, entertainments, etc., for the delegates. They went on one of the excursions to St. Augustine, which is said to be the oldest town in the United States. They also visited Tampa and Knights Keys, Fla. Two of the principal excursions were for a barbecue given in honor of the conductors by the engineers and trainmen. The engineers ran an excursion in a town named Fernonbend, which has a population of about 4,000 people, and the keys of the town were turned over to the engineers and their wives. If they failed to have a good time it was their fault as there was plenty to eat and drink. At some places we were given the privilege of picking oranges off the trees. The convention is still in session and will not adjourn for another week. There were about ten thousand persons in attendance at the engineers and ladies conventions.

LARGEST CROPS IN WORLD'S HISTORY

Washington, May 18.—In his introduction in the "Carbook for 1912" issued today, Secretary of Agriculture Wilson says, "at no time in the world's history has a country produced farming products equal to this year's, with a value reaching eight billion nine hundred and twenty-six million, which is the value of agriculture for 1910."

The amount of increase over 1909 is $226,000,000.

MEXICAN WAR MAY CONTINUE

Entire South is Aflame and Thousands are Under Arms

MADERO IS DISTRUSTED

Peace in North May Be Restored
But Government May Require
Stern Measures in South.

CAREER OF PRES. DIAZ

Who Has Promised to Retire as Chief Executive of Mexico.

1820—Born in Oaxaca of an Italian mother, educated for the church.

1846—Enlisted in the war against the United States.

1854—Served in revolt against Santa Ana.

1858—Supported Juarez in war of reform.

1859—Opposed French in war of intervention.

1867—Secured surrender of Mexico City from Maximilian.

1867—Candidate for president against Juarez, but was defeated.

1876—Became provisional president.

1877—Regularly elected for three year term.

1880—Secured election of Gonzalez as his successor.

1884—Following repeal of law prohibiting re-election was again chosen president.

1911—Promised to retire as president in order to end Madero revolution.

Mexico City, May 18.—Whether the promise of President Diaz and Vice President Corral to resign before June 1 has come in time to restore peace throughout the country is the most important question under consideration here today. Many of the closest students of Mexican affairs doubt it.

Madero and his followers, and probably the insurgents in the north are willing to lay down their arms, as they have gained by the surrender of the government everything they have been fighting for.

But the entire south is aflame, the states of Guerrero, Morelos, Chihuahua and most of the south are hotbeds of revolution. Thousands of insurgents are under arms there. These men hate and distrust Madero. They have their own grievances, growing out of the oppression of the state governments, and whether they will be willing to subscribe to the peace terms offered by the Diaz government is a grave question.

There is a general feeling in the capital that while peace in the north will be restored within a month, it may be necessary for the government to adopt stern measures in the south. Today there was every indication that there is a common understanding between Minister De La Barra who is to be provisional president for six months, pending the election of a new president and vice president and Francisco I. Madero.

With the proclamation of a five-day general armistice, which will include all of the government forces in the north and the Madero insurgents, couriers were sent south to notify Gen. Figueroa, leading the insurgents in their march on Guernavaca, that Madero has agreed to stop fighting and ask him to do the same. It is hoped that a definite reply from him will be received today. Meanwhile De La Barra and Madero will get into communication regarding the signing of a peace pact. It was said on authority that Madero will be invited to the capital and that the new minister of war, to be appointed by De La Barra, (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4.)

GERMANY

May Seek Alliance with Japan if America Adopts an Unfriendly Attitude.

Berlin, May 18.—If America shows signs of adopting an unfriendly attitude toward Germany, Germany will seek an alliance with Japan. This is the opinion of Count Reventlow, international authority of strategy, who claims that several utterances in the American press of late have created an impression that an alliance to Germany exists in America.

The parlors of the Hotel Warden, this city, resounded with mirth and merriment Wednesday night, the occasion being the annual spring banquet of the Calliopean Literary society of Denison University, Granville. This society, which is composed of some of the most popular and talented young men of the college, is one of the oldest connected with the college, and it is considered a high honor to have one's name enrolled on the register of the society. For some time arrangements have been making for the function, and Wednesday night the young men of the society, accompanied by young ladies from Shephardson and Denison boarded a special car in Granville and came down to the city, arriving about six o'clock. Upon their arrival here they immediately repaired to the parlors of the Warden, where a short time was spent socially, when they filed into the banquet hall, nearly one hundred in number, and took their seats at the banquet table.

The banquet hall was a bower of beauty and was decorated most elaborately, the whole presenting a most beautiful appearance. The favors were white and red carnations.

Cucumber Jelly Salad. Pare and cut fine three large cucumbers. Put in an agate saucepan with one small onion cut fine, one teaspoonful of peppercorns, two tablespoonfuls of vinegar and a pint and a half of cold water. Heat and stew slowly until very tender. Add one-half of a cupful of cold water and stir until dissolved. Strain through wetted cheese cloth. Add enough leaf green color paste to color a pale green and set aside to chill. When beginning to thicken, line small wetted molds with thin slices of cucumber, pour in the thickening jelly and place on ice until firm. Serve on lettuce leaves with mayonnaise or a French dressing.

Rhubarb Betty. Mix together three cupfuls of fine stale bread crumbs, one cupful of sugar, a pinch of salt, one teaspoonful of mixed ground spice and one half of a cupful of melted butter. In a baking dish put alternate layers of crumbs and finely cut rhubarb, adding more sugar if the fruit is thought to be very tart. Bake three-quarters of an hour in a hot oven and serve with sweetened cream.

ADORN THE HOUSE.

You can adorn your house with some really beautiful pictures at absolutely no expense except the cost of framing, by sending the Hewitt Brothers Soap company of Dayton, Ohio, a two-cent stamp and twenty-five wrappers from Hewitt's Easy Task Soap. Hewitt's Easy Task Soap is the original white laundry soap, which has given satisfaction for upwards of a quarter of a century.

If you want to be pleased in your selection of graduating presents do not purchase until you have looked through the beautiful line of picture and books just received at Norton's book store.

Dear Denial.

"I have heard the late Archbishop Ryan tell of two plump gourmets who were discussing during Lent their favorite fast dishes," said a Philadelphian.

"Trout," said the first, with a sigh, "has gone up, thanks to the high cost of living and the Lenten demand."

"Yes," said the other. "Isn't it terrible? Oysters, terrapin, teal duck, whine, caviar—everything is dearer. Indeed, I often wonder these days where one is to get the money to fast with."

Office of the Footman.

"I don't believe there is anything in that talk about Harlow being hard up," said Little Blake. "Why, he's just blossomed forth with a footman on his back."

A HARMLESS WAY TO DARKEN THE HAIR

A Little Sage and Sulphur Makes Gray Hair Vanish—A Remedy for All Hair Troubles

Who does not know the value of sage and sulphur for keeping the hair dark, soft, glossy and in good condition? As a matter of fact, sulphur is a natural element of hair, and a deficiency of it in the hair is held by many scalp specialists to be connected with loss of color and vitality of the hair. Unquestionably, there is no better remedy for hair and scalp troubles, especially premature graying, than sage and sulphur. If properly prepared. The Wyeth Chemical Company of New York put up an ideal remedy of this kind, called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, and authorized druggists to sell it under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented. This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists.

Jinks' Romance

A Civil War Vet's Tale

By F. A. MITCHEL

Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

"Jinks," said one of a party of civil war veterans to a comrade, whose bald head shot out a few spears of white hair and whose gums always met when he closed his jaws, "why didn't you never get married?"

Jinks uncrossed his legs, recrossed them the other way and said:

"There's a romance in my life."

"A romance! You don't mean to say there's any romance or ever has been in you! It wouldn't be nat'l to you."

"I wasn't always like I am now, no more'n you fellows. I was sleek enough when we was fighting Johnny Rebs."

"Well, tell us about your romance."

"It began when we was goin' up that long slant at Fredericksburg. If ever there was a place particularly cap'tated to mow down men and have plenty of time to do it, that inclined plane takes the cake. It's nearly fifty year since we was led up there, and nobody hasn't yit found out who was responsible. Mr. Lincoln warn't no soldier, but if he'd seen he'd known it was a good slaughter pen and nothin' else."

"Me and Bob Aker was truggin' along side by side, expectin' either one or t'other would drop. We was bosom friends. All of a sudden Bob pitched forward. I dropped out and bent over him. He just had time before he fell on t'other side to stretch out a hand with a ring on it and say:

"Take it to Sue and tell her I want her to marry you instead of me."

"I pulled the ring off his finger, and he died while I was a doin' it. S'ppin' the thing on my own finger, I got up and hurried along to my regiment, though even in this short time the place where we'd been was as wide as a church door."

"Bob had had plenty of time to tell me all that was necessary, for he'd told me the rest often before. Laws, how the boy did talk about that gal! She was the loveliest thing on earth, so good, so gentle, so lovin'."

Then he would say: 'It nearly kills me to think that I may git killed down here and some other feller'll take my place with her. If any man does I want you to be her husband, Bill. If I knew she was goin' to you it wouldn't seem so bad.' He'd often showed me the ring she'd given him, and he'd given her one in exchange."

"I was powerful affected by all this, seen' Bob killed right beside me and his turnin' the gal he couldn't have himself over to me. I tell you I was all broke up."

The old man took out his handkerchief, blew his nose and incidentally touched his eyes with the wipe.

"Oh, don't get maudlin, Jinks."

"I came out o' that slaughter all right, and as soon as I'd got Bob a trifle out o' my mind I fell to dreamin' o' his gal. I'd go over plans to break the news of Bob's message and all about it. I wondered if I could persuade her to take me instead o' Bob and how long I'd be a doin' it. There'd be lots o' delicacy required, and I didn't know how a rough chap like me could git down to it. The only thing I could do would be to do the best I could. I kind a thort that a good deal depended on my gittin' the gal, for I had some hold on her—Bob had made the request—and I didn't have a hold on any other gal and no prospect o' havin' any other hold."

"The war ended at last, and I'd 'a' gone straight to Bob's gal, but I was mustered out far from her home, and I didn't have no money to buy a ticket with. Besides, I was out at the seat o' the britches. So I had to go to work to git the cash. Of course when I got a place I couldn't git my employer to let me go off courtin' a gal whose heart was like enough buried down in Virginia. Anyway, I didn't like to ask him, and so I kep' a-puttin' the thing off and puttin' it off till a number of years went by. All this time I was plin' for the wife that I was expectin' to git."

"By gum, Jinks, you air givin' us a romance, ain't you?"

"It was ten years before I got round to goin' to give Bob Aker's message."

"I remember mighty well the day I went to the town she lived in, a village in a valley. I found the house, a little cottage with wistaria."

"Oh, cut out them embellishments."

"There was a man standin' on the corner, with his hands in his pockets, shavin' tobaccoer. I went up to him, and to open conversation I asked him for a chew. He give it to me, and then I asked if he knew Bob's gal. He said he'd known her ever since she was a high to a duck. Then I told him I was beside Bob Aker when he was killed and he had sent a ring and a message by me."

"What was the message?" the man asked.

"I kind o' wanted to get somebody to help me carry this load o' romance that was breakin' me down, so I showed him the ring and told him the bull story. He just faced me and stood looking into my eyes, and I knew that somep'n was workin' in his mind."

"Young man," he said, impressive-like, "Bob Aker's girl married me a month before Bob was killed. If you want to give her the ring and relieve me I hain't no objection to your doin' it. You may have fought in the war, but you can't wrestle with her—no man can."

"For heaven's sake, Jinks, is that your romance?"

"He made it out of whole cloth. The reason he hain't got a wife is 'cause he couldn't git one."

ATTACHING RUBBERS TO SHOES

After wearing rubbers a few times, they will become a little larger and fit loosely over the shoes. Sometimes the looseness is quite annoying and when walking in slush and muddy paths it is almost impossible to keep the rubbers on. This trouble I prevented by attaching the tongue and button as shown in the sketch. A tongue is fastened to the upper part of the back on each rubber and a button sewed on the back of each shoe. The tongue has a hole for the button.—From Popular Mechanics Magazine.

HOT PAN OR PLATE LIFTER

The danger of burning the hand or arm removing hot plates or pans from ovens can be obviated by the fashioning of a simple device. Two loops of wire are made, one a little longer than the other. One of the loops is fixed firmly in an 18-in. wooden handle, and the other is attached to the handle, but allowed to swing under the other side. The method of operation is to engage one side of the pan with the fixed loop and the swinging loop will swing under the other side. The pan can be lifted without the hands coming in contact with it or with the oven.—From Popular Mechanics Magazine.

THIS AND THAT

Money talks, but the trouble is it too often says "good-bye."

In making your mark in the world use energy, not a lead pencil.

The senate has passed the Yount telephone merger bill.

The shorter workday for women has been approved by the senate. The bill now goes to the governor.

The Helm committeemen at Springfield, Ill., now declare that Senator Lorimer's election was crooked. Who besides the United States senate doubted it?

Mrs. John E. Jones filed suit at Logansport, Ind., yesterday for divorce. Mr. Jones is her sixth husband and she is less than 30. Another record broken.

Newark suggested the "playgrounds bill," and now that the measure has become a law it should be the first city in Ohio to take advantage of its provisions by establishing playgrounds for Newark children.

Obstacles to the world's peace have been removed by the arbitration treaty presented yesterday to England and France by Uncle Sam. Other countries may apply for benefits.

The new Ohio Control Board—A. W. Thurman, T. E. Davey, J. P. Shaffer and A. F. Shepherd—will have control over 19 state institutions, supplanting about 100 trustees.

"The war in Mexico is over," declared a little Newark girl the other day. "The president has been sent to prison." Her mother, startled by the announcement, took the paper and read of the conviction of John Dietz of Cameron Dam fame. The child had mistaken Dietz for Diaz, that's all.

Wm. T. Smith, father of the one per cent tax bill, died last night at Marion. Representative Smith and Senator Homerene were boyhood friends in Holmes county.

Disporting on the beach at Cedar Point with a maiden in abbreviated attire, Philip Lutz was caught by the camera man employed by his wife to watch him and the snapshot figured

TODAY'S OPPORTUNITY

That the business transacted last month was less than that of the record breaking month of any previous year;
That pending legislation may possibly have a bearing or influence on your own affairs;

That the business man you talked with today exuded pessimism. Possibly he was unconscious of it; probably he did not know any better, AND TO REMEMBER

That national legislation concerns you not one-half so intimately or vitally as does the current demand for your own product;

That good crops are the foundation of good business, but that good crops alone do not make good business;

That never was money so cheap nor so much of it available as today;

That credit is being fritted away through inactivity;

That idle men, mills, factories and foundries constitute an extravagance no nation can afford;

That the purchasing power of a nation is gaged by the continuous employment of its capital and labor and the continuous exercise of confidence;

That advancing civilization is manifested by better methods of educating, feeding, clothing, housing and amusing the people;

That these functions can be performed acceptably only through the continuous employment of all the capital, all the mental resources and all the labor of all the people;

That he who sets idle machinery in motion and provides for the use of products which are not now in request, contributes to present and future progress, and that such contributions, once made, are cumulative in their effects;

That a start made today is preferable to one tomorrow.

FAIR EXCHANGE.

A New Back for An Old One—How It Can Be Done in Newark.

The back aches at times with a dull, indescribable feeling, making you weary and restless; piercing kidneys, and again the joints are so lame to stoop is agony. No use to rub or apply a plaster to the back in this condition. You cannot reach the cause. Exchange the bad back for a new and stronger one. Newark residents would do well to profit by the following example:

Mrs. J. A. Englehart, North street, Utica, Ohio, says: "I have no hesitation in giving Doan's Kidney Pills my hearty endorsement, as I know from personal experience that they are a remedy of merit. About a year ago, when I was suffering from a lameness in my back, I was induced to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial, as another member of my family had taken them with great success. It required only half the contents of a box to relieve me and improve my condition in every way. In cases of kidney trouble, I would use Doan's Kidney Pills in preference to any other kidney medicine."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name — Doan's — and take no other.

CONTINUED DROUTH CAUSING MUCH ALARM OVER THE COUNTRY

There is much complaint on account of the drouth, and many farmers are becoming alarmed over the dry weather which is parching the country. It is seldom that dry spell of such duration is experienced in the spring of the year. Long continued drouths in the fall are not uncommon. It has been several weeks since rain has fallen in this country. Nearly all the crops have been planted and all that is now needed to make a large crop in the fall is plenty of rain. The sun has been extremely warm and the ground is drying nearly hard, which is very injurious to the sprouting seeds. The public highways have been as dusty for several weeks as they are in the late summer. Gardens that cannot be reached with hose are doing no good.

HEALTH HINT FOR TODAY.

Deep Breathing For Drooping Shoulders.

Full and deep breathing will do more to straighten drooping shoulders than the wearing of braces, and if every one would take special pains to lift and hold the chest in its proper position round shoulders would disappear. Lifting the chest does not include any other exercise and is one of the simplest when once it is understood, but for some reason is one of the hardest ones to comprehend. It consists simply in the muscular movement of lifting up the chest, as though you were trying to lift it high enough to touch the chin. The arms and shoulders should be left in their natural position, and on no account should the shoulders be lifted at the same time you are lifting up the chest. Try the exercise. Stand perfectly easy and relaxed. Avoid tense muscles or any undue exertion, and see if you can accomplish the feat. You will readily understand that when the chest is no longer hollow, but is well up in its normal position, the shoulders cannot be rounded, but will naturally settle into their normal place.

OLD JACK, A WARTIME HERO

By J. H. ROCKWELL.

MOST men like a horse, but only a cavalryman takes a horse into full partnership or gives him that admiration which heroes deserve. Love for Old Jack began at Gettysburg, when he saw the captain who rode him cut off from his command and called upon to surrender. He shouted his defiance, gave Old Jack the spur and that horse brought him over seven fences and a great ditch back to his company. A bullet had raked the gallant steed, and the men cheered him as they wiped the blood away with their handkerchiefs. Late that fall after a slashing fight on a Virginia meadow one afternoon we found Old Jack standing over the dead body of his master. Other horses were galloping wildly about here and there, but Old Jack stood unmoved by the excitement about him. Wounded horses approached to beg for sympathy, but he drove them away for fear they would injure the man at his feet.

He was with the army up and down the Shenandoah valley during a long campaign, and one night when a terrific storm stamped 300 horses over to the enemy he alone returned. He raided and fought through that memorable year of 1864 and was wounded twice, but when the last campaign came he was ready for it, and when the final surrender of the enemy was made the white flags almost brushed his nose. Only a day or two before this a piece of shell had given him a severe hurt, but when driven to the rear with hundreds of other wounded horses he literally fought his way back to the front.

When he returned from Appomattox at the close of the war a quartermaster got hold of him, but when it became known by his old brigade that they were to go west Old Jack was put on the active list again and went with them. At Fort Leavenworth, where they vieded out the horses preparatory to the long trip to the Colorado line, Old Jack was led away to be branded with the letter "Q" and sold to the highest bidder at public auction. Company A, to which he had been attached, resolved and protested and argued against it, but to no avail. However, before the degrading iron had touched his shoulder Second Lieutenant K. bought him, and he was brought back to his old place.

"IT'S THE SAME THING AS MURDER!"

In the ranks, where he was given such a reception as only an old comrade could have counted on.

Far up the Platte, after the army had got well into the Indian country, a dozen men were cut off from the command one day. It was a race for life. The horse of a trooper fell with a broken leg, and Lieutenant K. took the man up behind him. Old Jack came in carrying double, an arrow grazing his quarter as he made the last half mile.

Partner west it was Old Jack who suddenly raised an alarm one midnight just in time to save the troop from attack. A week later he was bitten by a rattlesnake, and he was ordered to be shot, as has been done in a score of like cases, but Company A would not have it so, and, Providence sending a heavy rainstorm to stop the march, heroic doses of whisky were poured down his throat, and in the course of a few days he was all right and kicking up his heels as of yore.

Not long after this, one day while the brigade was marching along up between the forks of the upper Platte, Old Jack's rider ventured too far from camp, and he was rushed by half a dozen Indians. He dismounted and covered them with his revolver over the saddle. The horse stood like a rock. The savages yelled and waved blankets and fired their rifles, but they could not stampede him. In the midst of the excitement he saw the relief party while it was more than a mile away and neighed a shrill call of recognition and a warning to ride fast. It is at all strange that the men of his company loved him as thoroughly as they loved their fellows? There were just fifty-five men in Company A out on the plains, and had they some day been obliged to accept fifty-five hard-fought for a full day's rations Old Jack would have shared equally with the men. That's how much they thought of him.

In spite of his many narrow escapes and the warm affection of the men with whom he had served so faithfully and so long, the day came when there had to be a final parting. Two hundred of the men were pushing a fresh Indian trail when Old Jack, going at an easy gallop, put his foot into a gopher hole and broke a fore leg. Two hundred men groaned aloud at the sight of the poor beast standing there in the shadow of certain death. There was neither water nor grass for miles around, and, anyhow, the wolves would pull him down after a few hours, and he deserved a better death. And yet no one could be found willing to kill him.

"Strip off the saddle and shoot him." That was the order that came back from the head of the column, and that was the order given by Captain K. to Sergeant B. The saddle was removed, and, although Old Jack must have been suffering intense pain, he did not utter a sigh, only his eyes seemed to open a little wider than usual, and he appeared somewhat worried and anxious as he looked around.

"Captain, I can't do it; I simply cannot," replied the sergeant. "Give that order to some one else."

A second and a third man were named, but all asked to be relieved of the unpleasant duty. Then a corporal stepped out and placed the muzzle of his revolver to Old Jack's ear, but a hundred men shouted in chorus, and he did not pull the trigger.

"Compliments of Colonel C., with orders to shoot that horse at once," announced a messenger from the front. "Sergeant B., put that poor beast out of his misery," ordered the captain.

"I've got to do it or stand a court martial, I suppose," growled the sergeant, "but I'd sooner take a shot at somebody down in front. Perhaps he isn't so badly hurt after all and something can be done for him."

"Hurry up! Can't you see that the bone is broken square off?"

Poor Old Jack was rubbing his nose against the sergeant's left hand and whimpering, as if he would inquire what it was all about. The face of every man present was turned away, and many stopped their ears to shut out the sound of the revolver cracked, and the column moved on its way.

Looking straight ahead and with a suspicious quivering of the chin, the sergeant was heard to whisper:

"I wish I hadn't done it. I wish I had taken arrest and court martial instead. Poor old comrade!"

All in the Family.

When the fighting was at its height in the battle of Gettysburg a Union soldier captured a Confederate who happened to be his own brother. He turned to fire at a Confederate behind a tree when the prisoner said, "Don't fire on him; that's father."

YOUNG BUFFALO'S WILD WEST SHOW IS HERE TODAY

Young Buffalo, with his aggregation of Wild West performers, arrived in Newark Thursday morning by the break of day, but notwithstanding the early arrival of the trains there was a large crowd of people on hand to witness the unloading of the horses, wagons and paraphernalia of the show. A big crowd of people was also on hand at the show grounds to welcome the show.

The weather was fine and could not have been better had it been made to who claims that several utterances rounding the public square were filled with large crowds of people, all eager to see the parade. The parade of a wild west show is so much different from that of a circus that one can only judge the size of the troupe by what it offers in the free attraction way, and judging from the showing made by Young Buffalo in his parade in Newark he certainly made good with the people. It was in every way up to all that had been claimed for it.

There were genuine Indians from the Wild West, while cow boys and cow girls, riders of the plains, attracted much attention by their easy and graceful riding. There was a genuine cow boy band in the parade, and the class of music furnished by the five bands was excellent. The horses were all in splendid condition and seemed full of life and spirit. They are for the most part animals that are especially qualified to make a wild west show realistic.

There was a large crowd at the show Thursday afternoon, all of whom thoroughly enjoyed the entertainment, which consisted of all the features usually seen with a Wild West show, and then some. The indications are there will be a capacity crowd this evening.

E. D. Curtis of Zanesville, well known in Newark, has been appointed traveling live stock agent of the B. & O. railroad company and will enter upon the duties of his new position on May 15.

Mr. Curtis' territory embraces all reached by the company's lines and while he will report direct to the head offices at Baltimore, he will continue to make his home in Zanesville.

The appointment of Mr. Curtis is a fitting recognition of faithful and extended service rendered the company. He has been identified with the local freight station for a number of years, having served ten years as chief clerk and previous to that as assistant cashier.

Mr. Curtis' successor as chief clerk has not been named, but he will be selected from the present office force and the change will result in a promotion for several of the office employees.

IRON TRADE REVIEW

Cleveland, May 16.—The Iron Trade Review today says:
The supreme court decision in the Standard Oil case and the disposition of the transportation companies to give more attention to their track and rolling stock requirements over the last half of the year have resulted in a decided improvement in sentiment in the iron and steel trade. So far there has been no important buying on the part of the railroads and no large inquiries have been put out, but this is thought to be due chiefly to the fact that inventories for the fiscal year ending June 30 have not been completed. While the trade does not look for a boom period a steady improvement in buying is expected as a result of the encouraging developments during the past week or ten days. In a few branches of the trade, there is slightly more activity, but the improvement has not been uniform and the market as a whole is quiet, purchases in most cases being limited to cover urgent needs. Consumers apparently are not satisfied that prices on finished steel have reached bottom. The extreme low prices quoted on bar iron have had a serious effect on the steel bar market as far as production is concerned but no actual sales have been reported below 140c, Pittsburg. The smaller mills continue to shade prices on plates, bar iron, sheets and wire nails although prices are being maintained by the larger mills.

WYETH'S SAGE AND SULPHUR HAIR REMEDY

Grew a Full Growth of Hair on a Bald Head

Here's the Proof

For two or three years my hair had been falling out and getting quite thin. About four months ago I commenced using Sage and Sulphur. The first bottle seemed to do some good and I kept using it regularly, until now I have used four bottles. The whole top of my head is now fairly covered with hair and it keeps coming in thicker. I shall keep on using it a while longer, as I notice a constant improvement.

OFFICERS WANT STRONGER ARMY

Maneuvers in Texas Said to Show Weak Condition.

SAME AFTER SPANISH WAR.

Changes Were Made Then, but Little Improvement Has Been Shown—It is Doubtful if Army Can Be Increased, but Militia Will Probably Be Strengthened in Many Ways.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, May 18.—[Special.]—You cannot go to the war department these days without finding the officers who are settled or detailed there buzzing about strengthening the army. The movement to the Rio Grande is pointed out as a reason for making great improvements in the national defense.

After the Spanish war there was a great deal of talk about the unpreparedness of the United States for war, and it was shown by incontrovertible facts that if we had fought a stronger power the result would have been vastly different, at least in the time it took to defeat the enemy.

Then plans of making the army better were considered. The army was increased from 25,000 to about 65,000 men with skeleton organizations for 100,000 men. A general staff was created, and a war college was built. From time to time statements were made that the general staff and the war college had everything on paper for the rapid movement of troops and there would never be such another state of affairs as existed at the time of the last war.

Still Unprepared. While the movement to Texas was not war, it was warlike, and there is the same complaint of inefficiency. It is now suggested that the general staff, the adjutant general's and inspector general's departments should be consolidated. That was what ought to have been done when the general staff was organized. It could not be done then and cannot be done now.

It is doubtful if the army can be increased, though steps may be taken to strengthen the militia. At all events it would seem that we have not progressed very far in a dozen years.

Practical Demonstration. The Democrats of the house did not want to be put to the necessity of bringing in one of the Republican "gag rules" in order to pass a tariff bill without amendment. So they had every amendment ruled out of order or by a general agreement voted down every amendment.

"We demonstrated that we could put through a tariff bill without a rule," smilingly remarked Oscar Underwood, who remained ten hours on the job, making points of order against Jim Mann's amendments as well as others coming from the Republican side.

National Chairman. For several months there has been a suggestion that a real chairman of the Republican national committee should be selected, there being some doubt as to whether Postmaster General Hitchcock has released the job and designated as successor Governor Hill of Maine. Some Republicans claimed that a Mark Hanna should be found to reorganize the Republican party. That idea seems to have been abandoned.

In the first place there are mighty few Mark Hannas, and in the second place the Mark Hanna methods of running politics are not altogether popular in the country. So it has been decided to allow the matter to remain just where it is. The committee will meet in Washington next December to choose a place and select a date for the next national convention. That will be time enough to do anything about a chairman. More than that, the manager of the campaign will be selected by the Republican nominee for president.

Good Farming Land. One good thing which the hearings before the finance committee are bringing out is the fact that there are millions of acres of good farming lands yet undeveloped in the United States. There has been much alarm over the fear that the farm lands in this country were about exhausted. Dr. Governor Palmer of Michigan told the committee that there were millions of acres of good tillable lands in his state. He also said the same was true of Mississippi and many other southern states of which he had knowledge.

Southern men have always claimed that there were still great opportunities for farmers in the south. The impression that only the arid lands of the west were all that could be utilized for farming in the future has been proved erroneous.

Idaho in the Limelight. As in the last session, Idaho continues in the limelight. By reason of having charge of the election of senators resolution Borah is frequently in evidence. Then Heburn, by reason of his opposition to that resolution, is equally prominent. But Heburn opposes many other things which bring him before the senate and the people. He is now a member of the finance committee and opponent of reciprocity, which is bound to lead to an opportunity for more or less in fiction.

MARVEL FOR ANY SUPERFLUOUS HAIR

The Free Trial of Elee-tro-la Will Surprise You.

Elee-tro-la is the remarkable new hair-remover which does more than merely kill the surface hair. It goes to the hair roots, destroys them absolutely and forever.

Besides this, Elee-tro-la, instead of burning or reddening the skin as other hair-removers do, leaves the skin fresh and soft, so nobody can ever tell you have been using anything. Elee-tro-la contains no bismuth nor any element not found in pure wholesome mineral water. Whether the superfluous hair is of light or heavy growth, Elee-tro-la will destroy it immediately and permanently.

Even light fuzz makes a woman look coarse. Heavy growth is humiliating, and is Cupid's worst enemy. Make your face, arms, hands, shoulders, neck and bust look clean and exquisite by using Elee-tro-la. The regular price is $1.00 a bottle. Your money refunded if you are not satisfied.

Just send coupon below, with name and address, together with 2c stamp to pay for postage, for a free trial package of Elee-tro-la to prove what it will do.

HEALTHY MOTHERS

Women who bear children and remain healthy are those who prepare their systems in advance of baby's coming. Unless the mother aids nature in its pre-natal work the crisis finds her system unequal to the demands made upon it, and she is often left with weakened health or chronic ailments. No remedy is so truly a help to nature as Mother's Friend, and no expectant mother should fail to use it. It relieves the pain and discomfort caused by the strain on the ligaments, makes pliant and elastic those expanding and muscles which nature is fibrous, prevents numbness of limbs, and soothes the inflammation of breast glands. The system being thus prepared by Mother's Friend dispels the fear that the crisis may not be safely met. Mother's Friend assures a speedy and complete recovery for the mother, and she is left a healthy woman to enjoy the rearing of her child. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. Write for our free book for expectant mothers which contains much valuable information, and many suggestions of a helpful nature.

A DEAD STOMACH

Of What Use is It to Anyone? "Thousands! yet hundreds of thousands of people throughout America are murdering their own stomach, the best friend they have, and in their sublime ignorance they think they are putting aside the laws of nature."

This is no sensational statement; it is a startling fact, the truth of which any honorable physician will not deny. These thousands of people are swallowing daily huge quantities of pepsin and other strong digesters, made especially to digest the food in the stomach without any aid at all from the digestive membrane of the stomach.

In other words, they are taking from the stomach the work that nature intended it should do, and are also refusing it the only chance for exercise it has. MI-O-NA stomach tablets relieve distressed stomach in five minutes. Taken regularly for a few weeks they build up the stomach and make it strong enough to digest its own food. Then indigestion, belching, sour stomach, headache and stomach misery go.

MI-O-NA stomach tablets are sold by Evans' Drug Store, and leading druggists everywhere at 50 cents a large box, and are guaranteed to cure all stomach distress or money back.

Dinner Stories

The Governor of a Western state was dining with the family of a Representative in Congress from that state, and opposite him at table sat the little girl of the family, aged ten. She gazed at the Governor solemnly throughout the repast.

Finally the youngster asked, "Are you really and truly a Governor?"

"Yes," replied the great man laughingly. "I really and truly am."

"I've always wanted to see a Governor," continued the child, "for I've heard daddy speak of 'em."

"Well," rejoined the Governor, "now that you have seen one, are you satisfied?"

"No, sir," answered the youngster, without the slightest impertinence, but with an air of great conviction. "No, sir; I'm disappointed."

Archbishop Ryan illuminated every subject he discussed, and once, at a banquet in Philadelphia, he illuminated strangely the subject of old age.

"We ourselves," he said, "never seem to grow old. Our hearts remain young and even our faces. In the glass don't look old, as do our friends' faces. One day, on Chestnut street, a very withered, very bent graybeard accosted me.

"Why," he said, "don't you remember me? We were classmates at Carlow College."

Archbishop Ryan paused, then added whimsically: "I was taken aback. I was shocked. I knew he was my age, but I had no idea I was his."

"How often, my good man," said the stranger, at the wayside station, "do the trains stop here?"

"The trains stop here," said the stout station porter, "only once. After that they start."

BOTH HANDS GONE OHIO PRODEGY IS CRACK RIFLE SHOT

At Wapakoneta, O., lives Al Wine-miller, an armless man who is a crack rifle shot. He uses his teeth to pull the trigger. So far as known there is no living man handicapped as he is who has made such a record and not for the purpose of revenue or exhibition, but purely for the love of sport. In 1893 Wine-miller lost one arm and in 1910 he lost the other. He bought a .22 repeating Remington and had a hole bored in the trigger. Through this he fastened a wire and covered the freed end of it with a leather bit which he could take in his mouth. This device was made under his direction. When Wine-miller is ready to go into action he selects a stump, wiggles out of his coat, shakes the box of cartridges out, removes the lid with his teeth. Then he places his Remington at rest, with the muzzle pointing upward, holding it in position with a leather thong strapped to the stump of his left arm, leans over and presses the spring of the magazine with his teeth, causing the receptacle to open. With his mouth he drops in the cartridges. The magazine is snapped into place by pressing the top against a tree stump, and the armless shooter, again employing his teeth, puts on the cartridge box lid and returns the box to the pocket in his coat. Then he lifts the stock of the rifle to his armless socket and draws a bead at the object at which he intends to shoot. The thong is in the form of a loop, fastened to the barrel, and is slipped over the headless stump, holding the gun rigidly in position.

The breech mechanism is so delicately adjusted that the trigger is what might be termed a superlative hair trigger. By contracting his lips he is able to draw the trigger just.

the merest fraction of an inch without the slightest movement of his head. The cartridge is exploded and the bullet is driven to its target. The armless marksman has such a steady nerve that he can stand perfectly motionless for one minute and hold his rifle in position without showing a tremor.

Saved Child from Death.

"After our child had suffered from severe bronchial trouble for a year," wrote G. T. Richardson, of Richardson's Mills, Ala., "we feared it had consumed. It had a bad cough all the time. We tried many remedies without avail, and doctor's medicine seemed as useless. Finally we tried Dr. King's New Discovery, and are pleased to say that one bottle effected a complete cure, and our child is again strong and healthy." For coughs, colds, hoarseness, laryngitis, asthma, croup and sore lungs, it's the most infallible remedy that's made. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by F. D. Hall.

Common Pleas Court.

The defendants were engaged today in introducing their testimony in the case of Isaac N. Mazelin vs. Tilden Mazelin, et al., in which case the will of the late Francis Mazelin is being contested. Counsel expect to reach a verdict by Friday evening.

In the case of the State of Ohio vs. William Moore, charged with selling intoxicating liquors in this city, and in which Moore was found guilty and sentenced to pay a fine of $300 and costs, a bill of exceptions has been prepared by Court Stenographer Cooper on behalf of Moore for the purpose of taking the case to the circuit court, the defendant claiming that there is reversible error in the record.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS.

White Plains, N. Y.: Mrs. Frank E. Vanderhoof, suing for divorce, says her husband has been guilty of misconduct with twelve women since his marriage to her a year ago.

Portland, Me.: Bishop Robert Codman told the convention of the Protestant Episcopal churches of Maine that "without war a nation would degenerate and become morally and physically effeminate."

Budapest: The Countess Szechenyi formerly Miss Gladys Vanderbilt, has given $50,000 to the city's poor in return for the city's agreement not to lay street car tracks in front of her palace.

London: "I see that you are ready for the German invasion," remarked Princess Victoria Louise, daughter of the Kaiser, to Princess Mary, daughter of George V., when they viewed the armory where 30,000 rifles are stored.

Atlanta: T. E. White, arrested on a mistreatment complaint by his wife, was dismissed by Judge Orr under instructions to kiss his wife at least once a day and throw in a few for good measure if possible.

Poughkeepsie: Because she left the sophomore class at Vassar to wed Frank Damrosch Jr., son of the musical director, Miss Dorothy Frisby has been fired from college.

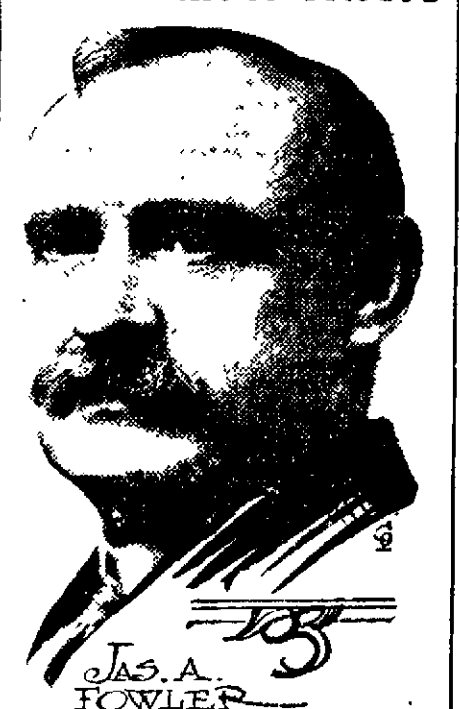

New York: The birth rate in this city for the first three months of the year was 28.11 per 1,000, the largest on record.

Paris: France's births in 1910 just made public, were 771,358, the lowest in a century. Dr. Bertillon says there is "no reason for this resigning herself shamefully to suicide."

Chicago: Emil Hecht, a drug clerk, admitted to a coroner's jury that by mistake he placed strychnine in medicine for Mrs. Belle Duncan, causing her death.

Chicago: Because so many people are sprinkling their lawns during the heated term, drinking and bathing water in Chicago is above par and thousands have to carry it in tin buckets.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—About Some Odd Canalboats

"I WISH I could invent some way of using my roller skates and my velocipede at the same time," said Jack one evening. "I like them both so much that I always want to skate when I'm on my wheel and I always want to wheel when I'm on my skates."

"That's a pretty tough thing to figure out," said daddy, "but I'm afraid you'll have to do the work yourself, because I am not an inventor by any means. I wish I was one, because, to my mind, they are the greatest men in the world, but no amount of study can make one. They have to be born with that gift just as a great singer or a great artist or a great author is born with his or her peculiar genius."

"Did you ever know any inventors?" asked Evelyn.

"No," said daddy, "I never did, but I have read about most of them, and it is mighty interesting. I can tell you."

"Tell us about something you read, then," asked the children.

"Well, that's a pretty hard task," said daddy, "because there are so many kinds of inventors and because some of the simplest things invented make the most money. For instance, that little ball attached to a rubber string that you throw away from you and comes back to your hand. Nothing could be simpler than that, could there? But the man who got the idea made hundreds of thousands of dollars out of it."

"And the man who invented the wonderful machine that sets the type for our newspapers made a million dollars. But he lost it all in Wall street."

"I know what I'll do. I'll tell you about a funny inventor I read about when I was a boy. He lived near a canal, and he used to spend hours watching the poor old mules and horses trudging along the narrow path alongside the canal dragging the heavy boats after them at the end of a long rope. So he said to himself, 'I must invent something to stop this, both because I'm sorry for the animals and because if I can help the men who own the canalboats to make more money they will give me a lot for myself.' So he thought and thought, and finally he thought he would build a canal with a slope to it like a cellar door so the boats would slide down on the water just as you slide down the door."

"But he soon found out he couldn't do this because the boats couldn't get back, and so what do you think he did?"

"What?" asked the children.

"He built some boats in the shape of cellar doors," said daddy gravely, "so they'd slide downhill on the level canals."

"Oh-h-h, daddy," hooted the children, "that's the worst story you ever told."

Patriotism

The stomach is a larger factor in "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness" than most people are aware. Patriotism can withstand hunger but not dyspepsia. The confirmed dyspeptic "is fit for treason, stratagems and spoils." The man who goes to the front for his country with a weak stomach will be a weak soldier and a fault finder.

A sound stomach makes for good citizenship as well as for health and happiness.

Diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition are promptly and permanently cured by the use of

VISITATION of NEWARK

BY THE

Sunday-School Workers

OF

Newark and Licking County

FRIDAY AFTERNOON, MAY 19

4:30 to 6:30

At 4:30 Friday afternoon, May 19, the Newark Sunday Schools, assisted by the delegates and visitors at the Licking County Sunday School Convention will conduct a Visitation of Newark. The city has been divided into districts and each district assigned to two visitors. These visitors will call at every home in Newark with a message of greeting and good fellowship. They will also ask for the name, address and church affiliation or preference of those visited. This information will be classified and turned over to the different pastors, priests and superintendents. This information will enable the churches and Sunday Schools to show the people of Newark the real interest they have in all mankind.

This canvass is made in a spirit of kindness and good fellowship and it is hoped the visitors will be received in a like spirit.

The following coupon indicates the information desired. Please fill out this coupon NOW and have it ready when the visitor calls.

GETTING READY FOR VACATION AT GRANVILLE

Schools Will Soon Close—Old College Town Had Several Stations in Underground Ry. System.

Granville, May 18.—Only a few days until the public schools will close for the long summer vacation and the occasion to which the toilers of the classroom have looked forward with the greatest anticipation will have arrived. Every school youth is supposed to be happy when the summer vacation has arrived. Tradition demands it. Yet this disposition on the part of the children cannot but bring up thoughts that there is something at fault with the school children. Maybe if things in the school were made more attractive for the youngsters they would not be so anxious for vacation time to roll around. A few changes in the educational system might serve to attract and hold the interest of the pupil more closely.

Granville was an important town in the old time underground railway system. Ty Manor, the home of Mrs. Kate Hines, was one stopping place, and the old home of Dr. Talbot, where Mrs. Bawden lives, on Broadway, was another. In the former a negro was hidden for two weeks. Another station was the farm house where the old college was located. Part of this house stands where the old college was located. Part of this house stands in the original place and part was moved to town, and is the building where Dr. L. E. Davis now lives.

Mr. H. McManus and family of Bucyrus are spending a few days at Summerland Beach.

Mrs. Arthur French is visiting her mother in Bucyrus for a few days.

Mr. Jacob Bell of Bucyrus, who, with three other men, was killed at Shelby, O., a few days ago when an automobile in which they were riding was struck by a B. and O. passenger train, was well known in Granville. He had held the position of night yard master for the T. and O. C. at Bucyrus for several years.

Mrs. E. J. Case has been visiting relatives and friends at New Bethel, O.

Things in Granville are beginning to assume that character indicative of the coming commencement time. There is always something in the air that speaks of this season of the year more eloquently than words.

Mr. Raymond Evans, a Chicago newspaper man, has been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Evans at their home on Granger street for some days.

Mrs. E. R. McCullum returned the first of the week from a short visit in Zanesville.

James H. Shaub and family of New Way, made a short visit with relatives and friends in the village.

Miss Jessie Wood, a charming and accomplished young woman from near Pickerington, O., who has been visiting here for a few days, returned home Thursday.

Miss Gladys Jones of Zanesville, is visiting relatives and friends in the village for a short time.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Reed have moved into their residence on Center-ville street lately vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie McAnan.

Miss Vernie Burton of near Marysville, Union county, has returned home after a pleasant visit here with relatives and friends.

The annual picnic of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity occurred Wednesday evening. A hayride and picnic out the Newark road.

CENTENNIAL

Mr. Wess Riley and Mr. Clyde Riley and families were guests of their mother, Mrs. Angeline Riley, May 14. Messrs. Ralph and Laurence Haas spent Sunday in Mt. Vernon with the former's brother, C. G. Haas and family.

Mr. Albert Davidson is very ill with pneumonia.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Alspach attended the dedicatory services at the First M. E. church at Newark Sunday.

Messrs. Hugh C. Claggett and Charles Enswiler spent Sunday in Louisville.

Mrs. D. Lamson and Mr. Charles Porter spent Saturday with relatives at Homer.

Mrs. F. G. Overlurf, son Wayne, and Alice and Elmer Peters spent Tuesday with relatives here.

Mr. Jacob Wince is having a new water well drilled on his farm.

Several farmers in the vicinity have their corn planted and others are working hard at it. A good rain would be appreciated just now.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Pierpont called on Mr. A. W. Davidson Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Ninde Alspach of Delaware was the guest of his uncle, E. C. Alspach and family from Tuesday till Thursday.

Misses Mable and Marie Riley spent Sunday with Misses Jessie and Gertrude Alspach.

Mr. Frank Riley and family were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Myron Stinson Sunday.

A Wonder Worker In The Home

SPARTAN STAIN is a Wonder Worker in This Way:

It is practical. Your painter will tell you so. Your experience will prove it.

Because it is practical you can do dozens of home beauty stunts with it; refinish and grain floors and doors, give a new color and luster to the woodwork and cheer up the home generally.

TRY SOYBEANS

What are you going to do with that piece of ground you didn't get ready for corn? It will not pay to let it lie idle this summer. Why not plant it to soybeans? This crop will make good hay, but it is better for silage or silage. It makes excellent pasture for hogs and sheep, yielding from 5 to 10 tons of green forage per acre.

The soybean is a legume, and in nutritive value is equal to red clover. As a soil improver it is excellent. This plant will grow on a wide variety of soils, but the richer the soil the larger the yield of forage. Prepare the soil the same as for corn. Drill the soybeans in, from three pecks to a bushel and a half of seed per acre, after corn planting time. The heavier seeding is where the crop is grown for hay or pasture. A common drill can be used with the oat feed opened, and enough of the holes stopped up to give the proper distance between rows.

Cultivate the soybeans with a weeder before they come up. When the rows are wide enough apart use

POLICE COURT

In the police court Thursday morning A. A. Kinney was fined $15 and the costs for impersonating an officer "down the line." He failed to produce and was sent to the county jail.

Four common drunks were fined $5 and the costs and in default were set to work on the feeder improvement.

LARGE BOILERS CONSTRUCTED BY LOCAL CONCERN

For Use at the Weiant Green House,
East of This City—Will Erect
Steel Stack 85 Feet High.

The management of the Tucker Boiler Works, of this city, has just closed the contract with Mr. W. S. Weiant for the construction of three of the largest assembled boilers ever set up in Licking county. The boilers are for W. S. Weiant & Son's big green house, several miles east of the city, which already covers five acres of ground under glass. The new boilers for this big plant will each weigh in the neighborhood of seven-ton tons, and are to be completed and turned over to the Weiant in 60 days. The Tucker Boiler Works Co. has also contracted to build a self-supporting steel stack, 85 feet in height, to take care of the boilers. The boilers will be constructed of heavy steel plates and when finished will be side tracked and unloaded at the Weiant place, east of the city, and will then be taken on skids to their place of location.

BROTHERHOOD EVENING AT M. E. CHURCH

Men's Organizations of Various City Churches Attend in a Body—Excellent Address of Dr. Herbert Welch.

The Wednesday evening service at the First Methodist church, was "Brotherhood evening," the speaker for the occasion being Rev. Herbert Welch, D.D., LL.D., president of Ohio Wesleyan University. The brotherhood, composed of the men of the church, is an earnest band of loyal workers, who have borne many of the burdens of the new building enterprise. Special invitations to the evening services were extended to the brotherhoods and men's organizations of the various city churches, and were accepted by the societies of the Baptist, First Presbyterian and West Main street churches, which attended in a body.

The presiding officer of the evening was C. L. H. Long, president of the brotherhood, and opening devotional exercises were conducted by the chaplain, C. H. Huber. After the anthem by the chorus choir, Dr. Welch was introduced and his theme announced, "Social Service."

Dr. Welch in introducing his subject suggested as an opening thought in connection with the occasion of his coming, the question, "What is it all for?" He suggested various definitions which might be offered for the church and its might-be purposes—religious, philanthropic, disciplinary or social. He declared that the church, having existed for 1900 years, had been left with a definite commission by Jesus Christ. Is there exaggeration in the often repeated statement that the modern church has lost its influence with the masses? Surely there is exaggeration, but is there not also some little truth? Is it not true that a certain part of "the men on top" are idle, luxurious, selfish, while the man underneath is beginning to stir in discontent, and too often thinks that the church is identified with the man on top—a conclusion unwarranted in view of the new spirit of the church in patriotism, politics, social welfare, and for all there is of every man's life.

Jesus was more than a preacher. There were three divisions of his work. First, he was a preacher, bringing good tidings of great joy. Second, he was a teacher, in whom we find justification for the search of the ages after truth. Third, he was a healer; he took into account the body of man, broken, bruised, diseased, and he ministered to the whole man, body, soul and spirit. The name of Jesus Christ, must be bound by his examples. The rock of evangelism is the supreme mission of the church, as of the individual; but Christianity must have a place for the sanitary inspector, as well as for the preacher, or it is not equal to the demands of this day. Evangelism is the word of Christ, "Lazarus, come forth," but it is the work of man to prepare the way for the working of the master's will, by rolling away the stone. A man denies his profession of loving God by showing that he does not love man; and following the example of Christ, it is the duty of the modern man to see that he helps to loose his brother and let him go, by seeing that he has a fair chance in life.

We can have no patience with the often reiterated plea that practical philanthropy is not the business of the church. Whose business, then, is it? What duties of religion or citizenship can you expect from the man who has no chance? The Christian man ought to know conditions about him, and if they are not ideal, see that they are made so. If you say that such tasks are too secular for the church, read the story of Christ breakfasting with his disciples—meeting them down on the plane of their everyday needs, in order that he might later meet them on a higher plane. The man who thinks that the church does not care about the amount and adequacy of his pay envelope on Saturday night is not apt to come to the church on Sunday morning. We must learn to love the brother lower down, not to pretend to love them. "Am I my brother's keeper?" Yes, under God, keeper of his health, his family, his opportunity. The church that pours out its life in loving service will be the church of the coming day, because it has the spirit of Jesus Christ.

Tonight at 8 o'clock will be "Sunday School Evening." Dr. B. P. Rhoads will deliver the address, his subject being "Organized Adult Bible Classes."

W. A. ERMAN & SON'S UNUSUAL OFFER.

Sell Dr. Howard's Specific at Half-Price and Guarantee a Cure.

"It isn't often that we have faith enough in the medicine put up by other people to be willing to offer to refund the money if it does not cure," said W. A. Erman & Son to an Advocate man who dropped into their store, "but we are glad to sell Dr. Howard's specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia on that basis."

"The Dr. Howard Company in order to get a quick introductory sale, authorizes us to sell their regular 50-cent bottles at half price, 25 cents and, although we have sold a lot of it, and have guaranteed every package, not one has been brought back as unsatisfactory."

"We are still selling the specific at half price, although we cannot tell how long we shall be able to do so, and anyone who is subject to constipation, sick headache, dizziness, liver trouble, indigestion or a general played out condition, ought to take advantage of this chance. You can tell your readers that if they are not satisfied with the specific that they can come right back to our store and we will cheerfully refund their money."

Criss Bros. & Jones
Have Made a Number
Of Fine Improvements

Criss Bros. & Jones, undertakers are now installed in their new quarters in the rooms just west of the Advocate office, on West Main street. For some time workmen have been engaged in getting the rooms in shape, and now they have one of the finest undertaking establishments in Central Ohio. The front office of the firm is all furnished in oak with oak furniture, with paper to match. The ceiling is of steel, painted in cream colors and presents a very handsome appearance. The show room is all painted in white. There are front and rear entrances to the rooms, while there is an elevator leading from the trimming room to the stock room.

Do Ghosts Haunt Swamps?
No, never. It's foolish to fear a fancied evil when there are real and deadly perils to guard against in swamps and marshes, bayous, and lowlands. These are the malaria zones that cause ague, chills and fever, weakness, aches in the bones and muscles and may induce deadly typhoid. But Electric Bitters destroys and casts out these vicious germs from the blood. "Three bottles drove all the malaria from my system," wrote Wm. Fretwell, of Lucama, N. C., "and I've had fine health ever since." Use this safe, sure remedy only. 50c at F. D. Hall's.
